

Abstract of DE10157205

Contact bump (1) is deposited onto a connecting surface (3) of a substrate (2). A masking layer (5) is applied. Openings made in the mask provide for additional contact elevations (4) which are laid down on the bump (1). Alternatively etching into the bump takes place. The mask is removed. An Independent claim is included for the contact formed.